Title: College Annual E-Magazine of 2020-21 for magazine contest of the University.

Due to financial limitations and limited number of students in the college, it was difficult for the college to prepare and public a College magazine of 100 to 180 pages. Due to Corona virus pandemic the university conveyed colleges to prepare e copy of college magazines. It was one of the best opportunities for the college to prepare such a magazine. The college prepared the first e copy magazine titled 'Pursuit of Excellence' (ध्यास उत्कृष्टतेचा). Since we had not to print many copies of the magazine, we prepared the magazine and submitted it to the P A H Solapur University for participation in the college magazine competition among professional colleges. The magazine has been of 180 pages comprising of different items of students' literature in Marathi, Hindi, English, Urdu and Kannada. The magazine comprises of various committees of the college, description and photos of the prominent activities organised by the college during the academic year 2020-21, student activities their photos, posters, sketches etc. Since the magazine has been in e-form it was possible for the college to share the copies of the magazine with students, staff and other colleges without putting much cost and effort in doing this so. Another characteristic of this magazine is that on page numbers 117 - 119 we have cited 14 online Google links / videos of lectures and various activities and some of the online lectures, a feedback interview of a student, microteaching / ETS lectures organized by the college during the academic year. Simply on clicking the web link in the e-magazine given on these pages, anyone can see, study and observe the videos. Student were also provided e copy of the magazine who used the magazine as a creative online resource for their study and mental setup. Above all the college magazine received second award among the professional colleges magazine contest. It also enabled our students to get monetary awards for their contribution in the e college magazine! It was one of the successful endeavour of the college which brought laurels to the students and the College also!!
